

Engineering's Movilitas.Cloud Joins Siemens Xcelerator Marketplace

Engineering Industries eXcellence and Siemens are Expanding the Reach of Digital Supply Chain Technology Across the Global Manufacturing Sector.

July 2, 2025, Chicago, Illinois, USA –

Engineering Industries eXcellence, a leading provider of Digital Supply Chain and traceability solutions, proudly announces that its Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) product, Movilitas.Cloud, is now directly purchasable on the Siemens Xcelerator Marketplace. Companies of any size can benefit from immediate implementation and straightforward access to traceability technology through the subscription model in just a few clicks – with the possibility to cancel at any time.

Movilitas.Cloud enables manufacturers to implement compliance and traceability processes in a fully digital, scalable and cloud-native environment. Known for its seamless integration, ease of use and attractive pricing, Movilitas.Cloud provides a frictionless path to digital compliance and traceability transformation that is needed for regulatory reporting. It is designed to support critical use cases across industries such as pharmaceuticals, food and general manufacturing. The platform enables supply chain visibility, supports Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) initiatives, facilitates compliance with sustainability goals and plays a vital role in enabling digital product passport adoption as required by evolving regulations.

Siemens Xcelerator is Siemens' open digital business platform that offers technologies such as artificial intelligence (AI), Digital Twin and edge computing, driving simple, fast, and scalable value creation for customers, partners, and developers. It empowers customers by addressing their challenges, providing growing access to curated partners and solutions, fostering collaboration with innovators and enabling easy integration of open, interoperable offerings. By being listed on the Siemens Xcelerator Marketplace, Movilitas.Cloud gains greater visibility. The Siemens Xcelerator Marketplace currently features over 300 sellers and attracts more than one million visitors each month.

"This is a major milestone in our long-standing partnership with Siemens. By joining the Siemens Xcelerator Marketplace, we are making Movilitas.Cloud more accessible to manufacturers who rely on Siemens solutions to modernize their operations," said Marc Blekkink, Founder Movilitas.Cloud at Engineering Industries eXcellence.

Movilitas.Cloud offers a modular suite of digital services that address serialization and compliance reporting and product tracking and digital warehouse operations. Customers can easily integrate the platform into existing IT environments to support end-to-end traceability and global regulatory requirements. The listing reinforces the 20-year-long collaboration between Siemens and Engineering Industries eXcellence and supports a shared mission of enabling compliant, transparent and efficient digital manufacturing across industries.
